Timber Frame Design,
Fabrication & Installation

Professional Planning & Performance

Once the project is underway, our team will produce 3-dimensional concept drawings, timber frame shop drawings and finalized plans. In addition, we will develop material specifications and engineer-sealed documents that will ensure the efficient manufacturing and installation of your system for your specific geographic locale.

From design to installation, our project management process provides these important benefits:

- Streamlined coordination and communication
- Specific timelines via Gantt Charts
- On-time delivery with reduced lead-times
- Seamless integration and adaptability of timber framing to your building system

In addition to the timber frame structure, Harmony Exchange can also provide related timber frame products such as structural insulated panels, decking, interior finishes, exterior siding and Pella windows and doors.

Featured Projects

Innovative Craftsmanship

For over 25 years Harmony Exchange has been a leading provider of innovative timber frame systems. Combining artisan craftsmanship with the industry's most advanced technology, we create some of North America's most widely recognized private residential and commercial timber frames.

Our expertise in timber frame creation allows us to customize every project - making your dream a reality. Harmony's skilled design team collaborates with you, your home designer or your architect to create aesthetically pleasing and structurally sound systems. The result of this process is a structure of enduring elegance and inspiration.

Customize...customize...customize

Timber framing is incorporated into a variety of structures, from a rustic cottage to the most contemporary commercial building. At Harmony, we make it easy to integrate timber framing into your building plans. With you, we explore options ranging from traditional full frames to simple timber enhancements.

If a complete frame doesn't fit your needs, you may select a specific living space such as a great room, kitchen, entryway, porch or gazebo. In addition, within the defined living space, you may choose from a number of design elements, including roof systems, wall systems, floor systems and trusses...versatile integration. Our staff will walk you through the selection process and determine the optimal timber frame design, species selection and joinery detail for your specific project.

And finally, timber framing encourages a wide variety of interior and exterior finishes, allowing your structure to reflect your individual tastes and lifestyle.

Simplify...simplify...simplify

If you find the choices a bit too much, we can help by offering the Harmony Signature Series of home plans and frame designs. In this series, we have simplified the timber frame designs to incorporate a "best of" approach, one which utilizes our many years of industry experience. This offering streamlines the decision process and provides maximum value to the residential homeowner.
